(XXVIIIth YEAR.) THE (N°. 1441.)

MARYLAND GAZETTE.

THURSDAY, APRIL 22, 1773.

CONSTANTINOPLE, December 4.

THE French conſul who reſides at the Dardanelles, having embraced Mahometaniſm, the Chevalier de St. Prieſt, Ambaſſador from his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty, ſent the Sieur Ruffin, interpreter of the ſame nation, to take care of the affairs of the conſulſhip.

The total defeat of the ſquadron commanded by the Baſhaw of Scutari, by the Ruſſian fleet, does not ſeem to alter the pacifick diſpoſitions of the Porte; on the contrary, the court not only lays the fault on the Baſhaw, who equipped the ſquadron without having received any orders, but has alſo ſent a Capigi to the Morea to ſtrangle the Baſhaw's ſon, who commanded that ſquadron.

From the DANUBE, Jan. 4. Every thing preſents the melancholy ideas of an unavoidable war. According to advices from Vienna, couriers have never been ſo frequent between that court and thoſe of Peterſburgh and Berlin. The Miniſters of their Imperial Majeſties are almoſt continually in council, and leave it only to begin freſh conferences with thoſe of Ruſſia and Pruſſia. Theſe advices add, that the Prince de Rohan, Ambaſſador from France, demanded a ſecond audience of the Empreſs Queen, which proved as long as the firſt, in which, it is thought, that Miniſter has made ſome important propoſals; for his Highneſs, ſoon after his return to his hotel, diſpatched a courier to his court.

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 5. The government having been apprized that there had been diſperſed among ſeveral perſons, a collection of pieces relative to the proceſſes againſt the Counts Struenſee and Brandt, hath iſſued an order for ſeizing all the impreſſion, and publiſhed a moſt rigorous reſtriction againſt any booksellers, printers, or hawkers, who ſhall dare to ſell the ſame.

Jan. 9. Lieutenant Leith is at laſt condemned to be ſhot, but it is hoped he will be pardoned. The high tribunal have declared the Sieur Thura, author of a paper, intituled, "The Prognoſticator," guilty of high treaſon, and in conſequence he is to ſuffer the ſame puniſhment as the Counts Brandt and Struenſee.

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 9. A treaty, we hear, is now on the tapis between our court and that of France, for ſome ſhips of the line, frigates, &c. The naval force is to be employed in the Baltic, and the military are, we are informed, to be poſted on the Norwegian frontiers. Every preparation that is now going forward ſpeaks an approaching war, notwithſtanding the pacifick appearances which the court ſeems deſirous of maintaining.

BERLIN, Jan. 19. It is aſſured that the hereditary Prince of Brunſwick has entered into the King of Pruſſia's ſervice, with the rank of general of foot.

Advice has juſt been received here from Thorn, that the Pruſſian troops were ſet down in form before that town, in order to compel the inhabitants to yield obedience to the King of Pruſſia. The magiſtrates, and a great majority of the inhabitants, have publiſhed a declaration, that they will not, have publiſhed a declaration, that they will not give up their liberty into the hands of abſolute power, nor that they own themſelves ſubjects of the King of Poland, or any other monarch, and as ſuch they will ſend of no other [illegible] as well as thoſe of their ſovereign and their own [illegible]

LONDON,

Jan. 16. Publick credit never ſtood in this nation on ſo precarious a footing as at this time. The publick credit of any country will ever correſpond, in great meaſure, with the private credit of the individual perſons in it. Credit is the life of commerce. By the many large bankruptcies which have lately happened, both at home and abroad, our trade and commerce have received ſuch a ſevere check as hath occaſioned a ſtagnation in them. Men know not whom to truſt; and in conſequence of this fear, and doubtful ſuſpenſe, a multitude of our artificers and manufacturers are deſtitute of employment, and in courſe ſtarving for want of the neceſſaries of life. Their unhappy circumſtances ſhould be timely conſidered by thoſe in power, for ſuch general diſtreſſes of the people often create very untoward conſequences to thoſe in ſuperior ſtations. They who guide the reins of government ſhould conſider the cauſe of ſuch frequent bankruptcies, and take proper meaſures for remedying it. The true and undoubted cauſe of ſuch frequent failures, both foreign and domeſtick, we will take upon us to mention, but ſhall leave the care of it to thoſe whoſe buſineſs and duty it is. The parents and nurſes of trade and commerce are induſtry, care, and frugality, without which it is impoſſible they ſhould proſper and flourish. But this is an age of luxury, corruption, extravagance, and diſſipation; all which are incompatible with and militate againſt trade and commerce, for ſuch, in the end, totally deſtroy them. Now far our government hath itſelf been inſtrumental in promoting in this nation thoſe enemies to our commercial intereſts, let thoſe in power conſider, and, for their own ſakes, amend; for ſhould luxury, corruption, extravagance, and diſſipation, be ſuffered to proceed in this kingdom, bankruptcies would, of courſe, increaſe to ſuch a degree as would ſoon deſtroy all credit, trade, and commerce, and the departure of them would unavoidably bring on a diſſolution of government alſo.

It is a general remark that Italy, though no larger than Great Britain, has twice the number of its inhabitants, at leaſt twelve millions of people. If ſo, what can it be aſcribed to? Why to our emigration undoubtedly to people our colonies. With the Eaſt Indies and North America, poor England will become a deſart, like Spain; whilſt foreigners, perhaps, may come and enjoy the produce of our lands.

The lady brought over by a young earl, lately returned from his travels, is reckoned of the moſt perfect beauty, the moſt accompliſhed breeding, and greateſt wit, that Italy has produced for a century paſt. At the inſtant that the Britiſh nobleman prevailed upon her to throw herſelf into his arms, not leſs than three rival princes were contending for her. The terms of her coming to this country were theſe: 10,000 l. ſterling paid down, 2600 l. a year to be paid quarterly, and the farther ſum of 10,000 l. to be paid her if ever ſhe ſhall be deſirous of returning to her own country. For the performance of this laſt article, the enamoured nobleman has given full ſecurity.

Extract of a letter from Rome, December 9.

"We have this moment learned that the plan which his Holineſs drew up relative to the jeſuits has met with invincible obſtacles at the court of Madrid. The Pope propoſed to reduce that body into little and diſtinct ſocieties, ſubject to the Biſhops of places where they were appointed to reſide; but to this his Catholick Majeſty anſwered, that "his Holineſs had promiſed him, in a very particular manner, the total extinction of the jeſuits; that he relied upon his promiſe; and that if he did not perform it, he (his Catholick Majeſty) ſhould be obliged to take meaſures to force him to it." Here the matter ſtill reſts, but it muſt now be determined one way or other."

Jan. 19. Some time before the opening of this ſeſſion of parliament, it was hinted to Mr. E. Burke, by a miniſterial friend, that the premier had ſo good an opinion of his knowledge in trade, that he had no doubt but he would be happy in being placed as one of the lords of that board. Mr. Burke then aſked his friend, "Whether he was commiſſioned from the premier to tell him ſo?" The other after a while ſaid he was; "Why then, make my compliments to that noble lord (ſays he) and tell him I have ſo great a reſpect for his Majeſty, that let my knowledge be ever ſo great in trade, I ſhall never exert it in a contraband one."

Jan. 20. Letters from Spain adviſe that they are recruiting the troops all over that kingdom, and fitting out men of war; particularly 17 at Carthagena, and ſeven at Ferrol. The ſame letters ſay that orders are ſent to all the naval officers to repair immediately to thoſe two places, and all the general officers in Catalonia were likewiſe ordered to rendezvous the firſt of this month.

Jan. 21. An univerſal petition it is thought will be ſoon preſented to the Throne, containing a catalogue of the very inſupportable grievances the ſubjects labour under, and praying for a ſpeedy redreſs, for the ſafety of both king and kingdom.

Jan. 22. By a letter from a gentleman in Dublin to his friend in London, it appears that Lord Harcourt, from the uniformity of his manners, his compliance to their modes, and at the ſame time preſerving a reſpect to his own dignity, his univerſal politeneſs to all without giving diſguſt, by attaching himſelf to the minions of his predeceſſor, or any particulars, and his peculiar attention to the poor at this melancholy ſeaſon, render him truly amiable, and promiſe him an eaſy and happy reign in that kingdom, at leaſt while the people in the ſame mind. New brooms ſweep very clean in the country.

Different accounts from Spain inform that there never was known greater expedition made in the ſeveral ports of that kingdom, in building and fitting out ſhips of war, than at preſent. Their marine is more numerous, and in better order, than it has been for theſe ſixty years paſt. What all theſe preparations are making for, our miniſtry no doubt well know; which muſt be the reaſon of our fitting out a fleet of ſixteen ſail of the line, to be commanded by Admiral Pye, this ſpring, and intended for the Mediterranean, inſtead of the Eaſt Indies, which has been given out.

Jan. 23. A letter from Paris ſays, "The laſt letters from Rome mention the total abolition of the jeſuits ſociety having been finally reſolved on to take place immediately."

The affairs of America will come on before the Houſe of Commons next week.

It is generally believed, that however peaceable the preſent demeanor of the French and Spaniards may ſeem to be, they mean to have a tight bout with us, as ſoon as the one has planned and the other is in a condition to execute the deſired meaſures.

Jan. 25. A plan has been laid before the miniſtry to obtain an act this ſeſſion for all criminals, condemned in Great Britain for tranſportation, to be ſent to the Britiſh ſettlements on the coaſt of Africa, and there to work and ſerve as ſoldiers during the time of their ſentence, which will be a great ſaving to government.

Jan. 27. We hear that the preſent Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, a little after his entering into that office, publickly declared to ſeveral of the minority leaders in that kingdom, that an union with England was neither directly nor indirectly an object of his commiſſion. This frank declaration, on a point they ſo much dreaded, has opened a proſpect of his becoming very popular.

Tranſlation of part of a letter from Berlin, Dec. 3.

"Our warlike preparations are purſued with more than uſual vigour; and though we have a well diſciplined army of about 250,000 men ready to take the field, yet our King has lately taken into pay the Heſſian and Brunſwick troops; and the Emperor, with whom our King is in a ſtrict union and alliance, has likewiſe taken the Saxon and Palatine troops into pay. The ſecrets of our Cabinet, you know very well, are impenetrable; yet the beſt politicians affirm, that this formidable army cannot ſolely be meant to ſecure the poſſeſſions in Poland, but that certainly our King and the Emperor will put in force their favourite ſcheme of annihilating our ancient ſyſtem of government in Germany, and eſtabliſh out of its ruins two formidable monarchies. The impotence of the different powers, and the tyranny and oppreſſion of the German princes, bid fair for ſuch an event ſoon to take place."

Jan. 29. Yeſterday there was one of the greateſt levees at Lord North's that has been known at the Treaſury ſince the year 1734, during the adminiſtration of Sir Robert Walpole, on the occaſion of his gaining a great majority in the Houſe of Commons, after the then general election.

The Duke of Athol moved for an addreſs to his Majeſty yeſterday in the Houſe of Lords, on the happy delivery of the Queen; which was agreed to, and the Lords, with white ſtaves, ordered to preſent it.

Yeſterday a motion was made in the Houſe of Commons, by Richard Symons, Eſq; to addreſs his Majeſty, and congratulate him on the happy event of the birth of a prince; which was agreed to, and an addreſs was read, which will be preſented accordingly.

We are aſſured, by ſeveral letters of good authority, that the ſpirit which roſe in America in the year 1765, and which was with ſo much difficulty allayed, is again revived, and ſeems to threaten the worſt conſequences.

A letter from Genoa ſays, "Letters received here from Madrid adviſe, that a report having gained ground there that there were in Spain many jeſuits in diſguiſe, a ſtrict inquiſition was immediately ſet on foot, in conſequence of which they ſoon diſcovered and arreſted fifteen of theſe holy fathers at Madrid, and five at Pampeluna, beſides ſeveral others at divers other places. They were conducted to priſon, amidſt the acclamations of the multitude."

The week before laſt the Earl of Chatham received, in his retirement at Burton Pynſent, a packet from the King of Pruſſia, but whether on publick or private affairs is not known. His Pruſſian Majeſty has long done the Britiſh Cincinnatus the honour of correſponding with him; and, we are told, has, on many important occaſions, condeſcended to aſk the advice of that truly great man.

A young officer reduced, and by all accounts his half-pay diſpoſed of beſides, came in company, very lately, to London, in a northern ſtage, with an old dowager not far from ſixty; and on the road made a ſhift ſo to inſinuate himſelf into the affections of the lady, that ſhe was kind enough to give him her hand in two days after their arrival in town, and with it above 30,000 l. in the funds, beſides a real eſtate of 2501. a year. What a lucky tranſition for a young gentleman, without friends or money!

A commercial gentleman publickly declared, in a coffee-houſe near the Change, but laſt week, that he was certain there is at preſent as much, if not more, money in England, than it ever yet poſſeſſed; but it was diſperſed into ſo many hands, owing to ſpeculation in trade, and ſo few people living beyond their capital, that a large ſum could hardly be found now in any one man's poſſeſſion.

Jan. 30. The congratulatory addreſſes of both Houſes of parliament were yeſterday preſented to his Majeſty, on the birth of another prince, &c. and a moſt gracious anſwer was returned to each.

We hear, that the Dukes of Glouceſter and Cumberland ſent very polite congratulatory cards to his Majeſty at St. James's on the delivery of the Queen.

The Ducheſs of Glouceſter is far advanced in her pregnancy, and great preparations are making for her Royal Highneſs lying in at Glouceſter Houſe. Notice on the occaſion will be given in form to the Privy Council.

We are informed that there is at preſent a great ſtagnation in the iron branches of manufacture, and that many of the artificers of Birmingham, Sheffield, Wolverhampton, &c. are in circumſtances equally diſtreſsful with the poor weavers of Spitalfields.

A proof has been made of Mr. Moore's windlaſs on board the Mermaid, Capt. French, when the anchor, weighing 17 cwt. excluſive of the ſtock and cable, was raiſed with ſuch eaſe by four men, that they brought in two fathoms and a half of cable in three quarters of a minute.

A letter from on board the Hunter, Capt. Nicholſon, dated at Port Royal in Jamaica, Dec. 4, ſays, "On the 6th of laſt month we ſailed from James-Town in Virginia, bound to this place for ſugars, rum, &c. for the payment of which we had a pretty conſiderable ſum in ſpecie on board, beſides ſeveral kinds of merchandize, and a large ſtock of proviſions. We proceeded on our voyage without any interruption till we arrived off the little iſland of Torgua, off Hiſpaniola, where we fell in with two Spaniſh guarda coſtas, who boarded us very ſoon, under the old pretence of ſearching for contraband goods, but after diſplacing and turning over moſt of the things in the ſhip, they contented themſelves with robbing us of four hogſheads of tobacco, moſt of our proviſions, linen, &c. and then left us. We proceeded on our voyage, and arrived here ſoon after."

Neither the Dukes of Glouceſter nor Cumberland were ſent for when her Majeſty was brought to bed, though as princes of the blood they were entitled to ſuch a diſtinction previous to any of the great officers of the crown.

Advices from Cologn ſay, all is in motion in Weſtphalia; a camp is marked out near Hamburg, about five leagues from Brunſwick, for an army of 30,000 Pruſſians. Another camp is marked out near Hildwheim, and another body of troops is filing off for Sileſia.

Little as the importation of American Wheat is encouraged in this country, the Spaniards are well acquainted with its value; and whilſt we are, by the fatherly care of our governors, left expoſed to all the miſeries of a famine, even in the boſom of peace, they are induſtriouſly providing, by well ſtored magazines, againſt the inconvenience of long ſieges, in caſe a war ſhould take place.

Feb. 2. The Houſe of Commons yeſterday received a petition for leave to bring in a bill to encourage the manufacture of ſteel in America.

Some letters from Rome mention, that buſineſs of the greateſt importance now engages the attention of the Holy Conſiſtory, which meets almoſt daily with the greateſt privacy.

They write from Leghorn, that all the Italian ſtates are preparing to act on the defenſive, as very warm work is expected in the Mediterranean the enſuing ſummer. The Genoeſe in particular are very buſy, and are fitting out ſome capital veſſels.

Letters from good hands aſſure us, that a corps of Ruſſian troops is marching into Finland.

We haar, that a perſon of diſtinction from Denmark is expected here very ſoon, on buſineſs of an important nature.

Some letters from Madrid mention, that the King has prohibited the exportation of grain or pulſe from the Spaniſh dominions.

Authentic letters from the Hague mention, that two of the United Provinces have lately denied paying their quota, which has cauſed much ſpeculation among the politicians.

A great perſonage has of late condeſcended to expoſtulate with a young gentleman lately advanced to the Treaſury, on his extravagances.

The name of the new born prince is not yet agreed upon; but it is ſaid at St. James's that his Majeſty, out of compliment no leſs to a good man than a great miniſter, intends that Lord North ſhall be one of the godfathers.

It is a certain fact, that the Ducheſs of Glouceſter has privately visited a great and amiable lady ſince her delivery.

By letters from America we learn, that the natives are now in open rebellion againſt the mother country, and determined to throw off their allegiance.

They write from Dunkirk, upwards of 100 Britiſh artificers, with their wives and families, have come over there in veſſels from England ſince September laſt, to ſeek for employment in the manufactories in France.

Feb. 3. Lord Chatham, we are told, a few days ago, propheeied as follows: That before Chriſtmas next, the princes of the blood of England would alarm government more than ever the princes of the blood of France did that government. This ſeems rather myſterious; and if it always remains ſo, ſo much the better for this kingdom.

Feb. 4. Tueſday afternoon, between four and five o'clock, the long ſubſiſting difference between Lord Townſhend and the Earl of Bellamont was finally decided in Marybone Fields, when the latter received a ball in the right ſide of his belly, near his groin. They were armed with ſmall-ſwords and a caſe of piſtols, but it was agreed to uſe the latter firſt. Lord Townſhend firſt fired, which gave the unfortunate wound, and Lord Bellamont diſcharged his piſtol immediately after, without effect. The ſeconds were, the Hon. Mr. D——n for Lord Bellamont, and Lord L——r for Lord Townſhend. Lord Bellamont was immediately taken up, and put into a chaiſe, but, from the agony ariſing from his wound, he could not bear the motion; a chair was therefore inſtantly ſent for, and he was with great pain put into it, and carried to his lodgings, where, when he arrived, he deſired to be laid on his back. Mr. Bromfield, and other Surgeons, were immediately called in, who endeavoured, but in vain, for a long time to extract the ball.

The noble peers behaved to each other in the field with great politeneſs. When they had taken their ground, Lord B. took off his hat, which was returned by Lord T. who aſked his antagoniſt, which he choſe ſhould fire firſt? Lord B. anſwered, he begged Lord T. would, which was immediately complied with.

About one o'clock yeſterday Lord Bellamont's caſe was thought very deſperate. The ball was not then extracted, nor the ſurgeons able to trace it. His Lordſhip keeps in a kind of ſitting poſture, as any other occaſions great torture. He ſpeaks very highly of the behaviour of Lord Townſhend at the time of the engagement. The ball, which wounded Lord B. fell down between the inteſtines of the muſcles of the thigh, it penetrated the lower part of the belly, near what the anatomiſts call the ring of the abdominal muſcle, and narrowly miſſed the inguinal artery, which, if it had wounded, muſt have proved inſtant death.

When the report of Lord Bellamont's being wounded reached St. James's, a great perſonage pathetically exclaimed, "Unhappy nation, where the loſs of life is deemed a ſatisfaction for an imaginary wound of honour."

Feb. 10. Yeſterday the Earl of Dartmouth had a grand levee of colony governors, agents, and Weſt-India merchants, at his Lordſhip's houſe in St. James's ſquare.

The Wallworth, M'Cauſland, from Philadelphia in 26 days, was driven on ſhore in a violent ſtorm, the 20th of January, near Londonderry; but the crew were unloading the cargo, and hoped the ſhip would be got off, though it would be with much damage.

Feb. 17. The moſt authentic accounts received both from France and Spain ſay, that their monarchs are very jealous of the triumvirate, who are about to ſeize the helpleſs King of Poland's dominions; and that ſomething is now in embryo for the purpoſe of fruſtrating their inhuman deſigns.

Feb. 20. Lord Bellamont is now ſo well recovered, that Dr. Heberden, and Meſſ. Hawkins and Tomkyns his ſurgeons, allow him to drink wine, and live in his uſual manner. His wound is not yet cicatrized, but has every ſalutary appearance that can be wiſhed for.

DEAL, Feb. 25. Came down, the Randolph, M'Nabb, for Virginia; and the Richmond, Love, for Maryland.

WHEREAS an advertiſement appeared in the Maryland Gazette No. 1437, informing, that "a petition will be preferred to the aſſembly next ſeſſion, for the removal of the inſpection at Piles's, to Barber's Landing on Wiccomico, in caſe an inſpection law ſhould again take place:" This is to give notice that a counter petition will be preferred againſt the ſaid removal. But as the place where the ſaid warehouſe now ſtands is extremely inconvenient to thoſe in trade, on account of the creek's being fill'd up in ſuch manner that the craft taking off the tobacco are often detained for want of water, a petition will at ſame time be preferred for removing the ſaid inſpection to Woodland Point, on the land of Mr. John Winter, or any other more convenient place to the inhabitants of Charles county and the benefit of trade in general, Barber's Landing being out of the county and too far diſtant from the preſent place of inſpection.

RAN away from the ſubſcriber, living near the head of Patapſco river, in Baltimore county, on the 9th of march laſt, an Engliſh convict ſervant man named Joſeph Manyfold, a luſty well ſet fellow, about five feet eight or nine inches high, wears his own ſhort dark hair which curls a little, his right ear is ſplit, and has a ſcar on his throat which I believe to be cut by himſelf. Had on, an oſnabrig ſhirt, an old felt hat, ſtrong ſhoes with iron plates to the heels, other part of his dreſs is country made white and grey. Whoever ſecures the ſaid ſervant ſo as his maſter may get him again, ſhall receive, if 20 miles from home thirty ſhillings, if thirty miles fifty ſhillings, and if out of the province five pounds including what the law allows, and reaſonable charges if brought home, paid by

SAMUEL NORWOOD.

THE noted Engliſh dray horſe, imported by Mr. Gough, ſtands in Baltimore-town, and will cover mares at 40 ſhillings the ſeaſon.——Mr. Elie Dorſey, ſen. on Elk ridge, has two of the above horſe's colts out of common half-blooded mares that he refuſed 50 pounds a piece for at two years old; his colts in general prove him well qualified to croſs the ſtrain with blooded, half-blooded and country mares for carriage and draught horſes. 6w

AS I purpoſe to embark for England either in the fall of the preſent or ſpring of next year, I deſire all perſons who yet owe me money for dealings with Hudſon and Thompſon, and thoſe whoſe accounts are due for goods bought from myſelf, to come without delay and pay me their reſpective balances; which only will prevent their being ſued to the next ſeptember provincial or novembet county courts.

I have now on hand about £. 3500 coſt of well laid in and aſſorted dry goods, which I will ſell at a very low rate all together or in parcels, and will make the payments convenient to the purchaſers.
